

RED LODGE
MOUNTAIN

EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK 2026/2027

Welcome to Red Lodge Mountain!

This year, we've been recognized nationally as the #1 best value ski resort in the country. That's a big honor, but it's not just about affordability. It's about authenticity. It's about staying true to our roots. And it's about the experience we create together every day.

At Red Lodge Mountain, we live by a simple but powerful idea: Down to Earth Altitude. It's more than a slogan it's a reflection of who we are. We offer big adventure without the big attitude. We welcome everyone with open arms, and we stay grounded in the values that define our mountain and our town.

Our mission is clear: We share our spirit of the outdoors by creating unforgettable experiences and a welcoming community that fosters lifelong learning and a love of nature. Every lift ride, every lesson, every golf round, every smile in the lodge is a chance to live that mission.

We do this through our values, demonstrating our Honesty, Integrity, Adventure, Teamwork, Belonging, and Safety. These aren't just words on a wall. They're the way we treat each other, the way we serve our guests, and the way we show up every day.

Why does this matter? We are building toward a bold vision: To be a leading destination where nature, adventure, and community come together, ensuring a vibrant and sustainable future for generations to come. That future starts with us, with you, with the work we do, the care we give daily, and the pride we take in this amazing place.

Red Lodge Mountain isn't just a place to ski or golf. It's a place to belong. It's a place where the West is still wild, the community is still close, and the altitude is just right.

Thank you for joining our team! Thank you for bringing your passion, your grit, and your heart to work every day. Let's make each season unforgettable for our guests, for our town, and for each other.

SUSTAINABILITY

Sustainability at Red Lodge Mountain is more than recycling bins or carpool signs—it's a coordinated program built into how we operate, make decisions, communicate, and care for our community. To remain a resilient, forward-thinking, and environmentally responsible mountain destination, we focus on three key pillars of sustainability: environmental, social, and economic. Our approach emphasizes efficiency, strong relationships, transparent communication, and long-term stewardship. RLM is proud to have received the Montana EcoStar Award for our efforts to reduce solid and hazardous waste, increase operational efficiency, conserve energy and water, improve air quality, and build a sustainable business model that benefits both guests and employees.

Environmental Sustainability:

Our environmental initiatives continue to expand and now include:

1. Complimentary year-round bus service provides reliable transportation for employees while reducing single-vehicle travel and lowering carbon emissions.
2. Carpool incentives for employees commuting in personal vehicles.
3. Dedicated weekend carpool parking for guests supporting shared-ride travel.
4. An in-house recycling program covering cardboard, plastic, aluminum, office paper, newspaper, steel, magazines, and cooking oil.
5. Guest-facing recycling stations and signage to encourage proper sorting of cans and plasticware.
6. Employee training on waste reduction, recycling expectations, and sustainable daily practices.

Social Sustainability:

Social sustainability is central to our mission and reflects how we invest in people and community. We are committed to:

1. Providing fair and competitive wages across all departments.
2. Maintaining clear and effective communication, including updated job descriptions, performance evaluations, and ongoing support.
3. Supporting local nonprofit organizations whose values and work align with RLM's commitment to community and outdoor stewardship.

Economic Sustainability:

Economic sustainability ensures we remain a strong, stable business able to serve employees, guests, and the community for years to come. We work toward this by:

1. Setting company-wide and departmental goals to guide responsible growth.
2. Using affordable and strategic purchasing practices that reduce waste and maximize value.
3. Investing improvements to our physical space to enhance efficiency and guest experience.
4. Collecting and analyzing operational data to make informed, long-term decisions.

RESORT HISTORY & MOUNTAIN INFO

In the years leading up to the conception of Red Lodge Mountain, the Silver Run Ski Club operated several ski “areas” around Red Lodge. In 1960, they finally succeeded in opening a permanent area that had sufficient snowfall and terrain for all abilities. The group raised $250,000 through stock sales to develop a ski resort. Red Lodge Grizzly Peak opened on January 2, 1960, with one double chair, a lodge, and three trails.

Over the next few years, the ski area continued to expand, adding lifts and more trails. The word was spreading throughout the region that Red Lodge Mountain was a fun place to ski and the old mining town of Red Lodge was full of western hospitality and colorful characters.

In the spring of 1994, Red Lodge Mountain purchased the Red Lodge Golf Course in town to complement the winter business. This 18-hole championship golf course and real estate development has offered more and varied work opportunities for seasonal and year-round employees.

PURPOSE OF EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK

Red Lodge Mountain (RLM) is pleased to welcome you to our organization. This handbook has been prepared to help you get acquainted with us. It should answer many of your initial questions. The policies, procedures, and programs outlined in this handbook are designed to serve as guidelines to acquaint employees with information regarding their employment.

This handbook is provided for informational purposes only. Nothing in this handbook should be interpreted as creating an employment agreement or contract—either expressed or implied—between Red Lodge Mountain and its employees. While the handbook outlines the current policies and benefits offered by Red Lodge Mountain, these policies do not constitute conditions of employment and do not create any vested rights for employees of Red Lodge Mountain.

No leader or other representative of RLM, except the General Manager, has the authority to enter into any agreement for employment for any specific period or to make any agreement contrary to the above. Any such agreement with the General Manager must be an individual agreement in writing and signed by you and the General Manager.

Employees are expected to accept responsibility for familiarizing themselves with the information in this handbook and to seek verification or clarification of its terms or guidance when necessary. Employees should consult their supervisor first, and then the Human Resources Department if they have any questions that are not answered in this handbook. Red Lodge Mountain reserves the right at any time to make any changes to the contents of this handbook. You will be kept informed of any changes made to this handbook.

During your probationary period, you may be terminated at any time, with or without good cause and without prior notice by the Company, or you may resign for any reason.

Throughout this document Red Lodge Mountain may be referred to by that name or as RLM.

We are proud of the reputation and success of Red Lodge Mountain. It is our belief that these accomplishments are the result of dedication, hard work, and good communication. We hope that you will find your association with Red Lodge Mountain very rewarding.

GENERAL EMPLOYEE INFORMATION

OPEN COMMUNICATION

RLM strives to create a workplace built on trust, transparency, and open communication. We want every employee to feel empowered to do great work, enjoy their job, contribute to our success, and be recognized for their efforts. Honest, respectful communication helps us understand both employee and guest needs—and allows us to respond quickly and effectively so we can continue to grow and succeed together.

Every employee plays an important role in RLM's success, and we value the ideas and observations you bring to your work. If you have suggestions, concerns, or questions about any aspect of RLM operations, we encourage you to share them. To make sure questions and concerns are addressed at the appropriate level, employees should follow the communication pathway below:

1. Start with your immediate supervisor.
 2. If additional support is needed, reach out to your manager or director.
 3. If the concern is still unresolved, contact the Human Resources Department.
- This process ensures your voice is heard, and that issues are addressed promptly, respectfully, and consistently. Open communication is essential to who we are as a company, and we appreciate your engagement in helping RLM continue to grow, improve, and thrive.

PROBATIONARY PERIOD

The Probationary Period is designed to allow new and transferred employees to demonstrate their ability to meet performance expectations and to determine whether the position is the right fit for both the employee and the Company. During this time, RLM evaluates work habits, capabilities, safety practices, and overall performance.

Probationary Periods at RLM:

- Year-Round Employees: 12-month probationary period
- Seasonal Employees: 6-month probationary period

Either the employee or the Company may end the employment relationship at any time during the probationary period, with or without cause or advance notice. Probationary employees do not have access to the internal grievance process. Seasonal employment does not create a guarantee of continued employment or rehire in any future season. Seasonal rehire is considered new employment, starting a probationary period on the rehire start date.

Significant absences will automatically extend the probationary period by the length of the absence. If RLM determines that the initial probationary period does not provide adequate time to thoroughly evaluate performance, it may be extended for a specified period, not to exceed an additional 90 days.

During the probationary period, employees are eligible for benefits required by law, such as workers' compensation insurance and Social Security. Eligibility for other Company-provided benefits is determined by the terms and conditions of each program. Employees will be informed of specific benefit details as they become eligible.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT, ANTI-HARASSMENT & ANTI-DISCRIMINATION

Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO)

Red Lodge Mountain (RLM) is committed to maintaining a workplace where all individuals are treated with dignity, professionalism, and respect. We expect employees to develop and maintain working relationships free from bias, prejudice, discrimination, and harassment. RLM strictly prohibits unlawful discrimination or harassment by anyone—including supervisors, managers, co-workers, vendors, contractors, customers, and regular visitors.

Employment decisions at RLM are based on job-related qualifications, performance, and business needs. In accordance with federal and Montana state law, RLM does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, ancestry, creed, religion, age, physical or mental disability, marital status, sex (including pregnancy, childbirth, and related conditions), sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, military or veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable law.

This policy applies to all terms and conditions of employment, including recruitment, hiring, training, compensation, promotion, benefits, discipline, and separation. Employees are expected to always treat others with professionalism and respect. Violations of this policy may result in corrective action, up to and including termination.

Reasonable Accommodation

RLM complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), the ADA Amendments Act (ADAAA), the Pregnancy Discrimination Act, Title VII, and Montana's Human Rights Act regarding accommodations for disabilities and sincerely held religious beliefs or practices.

Employees who require accommodation should notify their immediate supervisor, manager, director, or the Human Resources Department. Once notified, RLM will begin an interactive process to determine what reasonable accommodation may be provided.

Reasonable accommodation will be provided unless doing so would create an undue hardship or require removal of an essential job function. Documentation may be requested when appropriate.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT, ANTI-HARASSMENT & ANTI-DISCRIMINATION

Harassment & Nondiscrimination

Harassment is prohibited at RLM. Harassment includes unwelcome verbal, physical, written, or visual conduct that is based on a protected characteristic or any conduct that unreasonably interferes with work performance or creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive work environment.

Examples of prohibited conduct include, but are not limited to:

- Epithets, slurs, hate language, or negative stereotyping
 - Offensive jokes, teasing, or practical jokes related to a protected characteristic
 - Threatening, intimidating, hostile, or humiliating actions
 - Written or graphic materials that demean or target a protected group
 - Offensive or hostile messages sent through email, texts, social media, or other digital platforms—even on personal accounts if seen by coworkers or impacting the workplace
- Harassment occurring off-site or online may still violate Company policy if it affects employees, customers, or the workplace.

Sexual Harassment

Sexual harassment is a form of unlawful discrimination and is strictly prohibited. It may involve individuals of the same or different gender and can include verbal, visual, or physical behaviors.

Examples include:

- Unwelcome comments about a person's body, gender, or sexual characteristics
 - Sexual propositions, pressure, or requests for sexual activity
 - Sexually oriented jokes, "kidding," or commentary
 - Displaying sexually suggestive images, pictures, screensavers, or materials
 - Staring, leering, whistling, or other inappropriate gestures
 - Unwelcome physical contact, such as touching, patting, or blocking movement
 - Any behavior where:
 - Submission is made a condition of employment
 - Submission or rejection influences employment decisions
 - The conduct creates a hostile, intimidating, or offensive environment
- Sex-based harassment also includes behavior not overtly sexual in nature, such as belittling, hazing, or stereotyping based on gender.

Complaint Procedure

All employees share responsibility for ensuring the workplace is free from harassment, discrimination, and retaliation. Whenever possible, employees who experience or witness inappropriate conduct are encouraged—but not required—to inform the person engaging in the conduct that the behavior is unwelcome. Employees who believe they have been subjected to discrimination, harassment, or retaliation, or who witness such conduct, should immediately report it using the steps below:

- Notify your immediate supervisor, manager, or director.
 - If additional support is needed, contact the Human Resources Department.
- Leaders must report any complaints or concerns to Human Resources.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT, ANTI-HARASSMENT & ANTI-DISCRIMINATION

Retaliation

RLM strictly prohibits retaliation against any employee who:

- Reports discrimination, harassment, or retaliation
- Opposes unlawful conduct
- Participates in an investigation
- Requests reasonable accommodation

Retaliation is a serious violation of this policy and may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.

Investigation & Corrective Action

RLM will promptly, thoroughly, and impartially investigate all complaints to the extent practicable. While confidentiality will be maintained whenever possible, it cannot be guaranteed if it interferes with a complete and fair investigation. If the investigation confirms a violation of this policy, RLM will take appropriate corrective action, up to and including termination of employment.

ACCEPTANCE OF ENTERTAINMENT, GIFTS, FAVORS, AND GRATUITIES

Employees must conduct themselves with integrity and avoid situations that could influence—or appear to influence—their judgment. Employees may not solicit or accept gifts, favors, entertainment, rewards, or anything of monetary value from any individual or outside organization if it could reasonably be perceived as affecting their decisions or actions on behalf of RLM.

Employees may accept nominal, non-cash items (such as promotional items or customary hospitality) only when:

- The item is of low value,
- It is customary for the industry,
- It does not violate any laws or ethical standards, and
- It cannot reasonably be seen as influencing business decisions.

Any questions about whether a gift is acceptable must be directed to your supervisor, manager, director, or Human Resources before acceptance.

Conflict of Interest

Employees are expected to act in the best interests of RLM and avoid any activity or relationship that could create—or appear to create—a conflict of interest. A conflict exists whenever an employee’s personal, financial, or familial interests interfere with the employee’s ability to make objective decisions on behalf of the Company.

- Conflicts may arise when an employee:
- Uses their RLM position for personal gain,
 - Makes decisions that benefit themselves or an immediate family member,
 - Receives improper personal benefits as a result of their role,
 - Engages in outside activities that conflict with job responsibilities or business interests.

RLM respects the right of employees to participate in personal and community activities. However, employees must disclose any actual or potential conflict of interest to their immediate supervisor, manager, director, or Human Resources. RLM will review the situation and determine whether the conflict can be managed or must be avoided. Violations of this policy may result in corrective action, up to and including termination.

ACCEPTANCE OF ENTERTAINMENT, GIFTS, FAVORS, AND GRATUITIES

Financial Interest in Other Businesses

Employees and their immediate family members may not hold a significant financial interest in any business that supplies goods or services to RLM, competes with RLM, or seeks to do business with RLM.

A “significant interest” generally means:

- A substantial ownership stake,
- A decision-making position, or
- Any interest that could influence business judgment.

Ownership of stock in publicly traded companies is acceptable only when the holdings are not large enough to influence decisions or create a conflict. When in doubt, employees must disclose their interest to their supervisor, manager, director, or Human Resources.

Giving Entertainment, Gifts, or Favors

Employees must not give gifts, favors, entertainment, or anything of value to customers, vendors, contractors, or business partners if doing so could influence—or appear to influence—their judgment or actions.

Modest, customary business courtesies may be permitted when:

- They are of low value,
- They comply with industry norms,
- They do not violate Company policy or law, and
- They cannot reasonably be viewed as attempting to secure preferential treatment.

Any uncertainty should be directed to your supervisor or Human Resources.

Outside Employment

RLM recognizes that employees may hold outside jobs or operate personal businesses. However, outside employment must not:

- Create a conflict of interest,
- Involve work for a competitor,
- Use RLM equipment, tools, or confidential information,
- Interfere with performance, attendance, or scheduling requirements,
- Prevent the employee from meeting RLM’s safety or operational standards.

Employees must inform their supervisor, manager, or director of any outside employment, including the nature of the work and the hours worked. If the outside job creates an actual or apparent conflict of interest—or interferes with performance—RLM may require the employee to end the outside employment to remain employed. Outside employment is not an excuse for tardiness, absenteeism, schedule conflicts, or refusal to work overtime. Attendance or performance issues arising from secondary work may result in corrective action.

ACCEPTANCE OF ENTERTAINMENT, GIFTS, FAVORS, AND GRATUITIES

Reporting Potential Conflicts

Employees must promptly report actual or potential conflicts of interest in writing to their immediate supervisor, manager, director, or Human Resources. RLM will evaluate the situation, and approval will only be given when the relationship or activity does not interfere with the employee's responsibilities or the Company's interests.

CONFIDENTIALITY AND PROTECTION OF COMPANY INFORMATION

Red Lodge Mountain (RLM) employees may have access to confidential, proprietary, or sensitive information as part of their work. Employees are expected to protect this information and use it only for legitimate business purposes.

Confidential information includes, but is not limited to:

- Guest and employee personal information (including payment information)
- Operational data, financial information, and business plans
- Internal reports, manuals, or procedures
- Computer files, system access credentials, and security information
- Any information not publicly available that is learned through employment with RLM

Employees may not disclose confidential information to anyone inside or outside the Company unless it is required for legitimate business purposes and the individual has proper authorization. Confidential information may not be removed from RLM property or accessed on personal devices unless permitted for business reasons.

Employees unsure about whether information is confidential should ask their supervisor, manager, director, or Human Resources. Unauthorized disclosure of confidential information may result in corrective action, up to and including termination.

Work Product and Intellectual Property

All work created by employees in the course of their employment belongs exclusively to Red Lodge Mountain. This includes:

- Written or electronic documents
- Training materials, presentations, and manuals
- Audio, video, and digital content
- Software, tools, or system configurations created for business use
- Concepts, ideas, or intellectual property developed for RLM

Employees may reference non-confidential work product in professional portfolios or resumes, provided no confidential, proprietary, or guest/employee information is disclosed, and provided it does not create a conflict of interest. Temporary employees and contractors must follow the same standards.

Employer Information and Property

The protection of RLM property—physical and digital—is essential to the safety and success of the Company. Employees may not remove Company information, equipment, or supplies from the premises except for legitimate business use and with appropriate authorization.

Upon separation from employment, employees must return all RLM property, including:

- Keys, badges, and uniforms
- Equipment, tools, and electronic devices
- Documents, manuals, or digital files
- Company credit cards or access credentials

Failure to return Company property may result in withholding of final wages as permitted under Montana law and/or legal action.

Inspections and Searches

To maintain a safe and secure workplace, and to protect Company property, RLM may conduct reasonable inspections of Company-owned property or areas where employees do not have a reasonable expectation of privacy.

This may include:

- Desks, file cabinets, lockers, and storage areas provided by RLM
- Company vehicles, radios, electronic devices, and equipment
- Company email, voicemail, phone logs, and computer systems

- Protection of Company property

Searches are conducted in a respectful and reasonable manner. Employees are encouraged to avoid bringing personal items to work that they prefer to keep private.

Random, blanket searches without business justification have been removed to ensure compliance with privacy expectations.

Communicable Diseases

RLM is committed to maintaining a safe workplace while also complying with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), the ADA Amendments Act (ADAAA), the Montana Human Rights Act, and applicable public health guidance.

A communicable disease is considered a medical condition and may be classified as a disability under federal or state law. RLM will not discriminate against any employee or applicant based on medical conditions, including a communicable disease.

When evaluating workplace situations involving communicable diseases, RLM will consider:

- The nature of the condition
- The level and type of risk
- How the disease is transmitted
- The likelihood and severity of potential harm
- Current guidance from public health authorities

When appropriate, RLM will engage in an interactive process to determine whether reasonable accommodation can be made without creating undue hardship or direct threat. Medical information will be handled confidentially and shared only on a need-to-know basis.

Employees with symptoms of communicable illness may be required to stay home for the safety of guests and staff, in accordance with public health recommendations and Company policy.

SCHEDULES, PAY PRACTICES, TIMEKEEPING, AND TIPS

Work Schedules

Department leaders establish work schedules based on operational needs, weather, guest volume, and staffing levels. Schedules may fluctuate throughout the season. Employees are expected to review schedules regularly, arrive dressed and ready to work at the start of their shift, and communicate any potential conflicts or changes with their supervisor as early as possible. While supervisors will make every effort to provide schedules in advance, adjustments may occur to support safe and efficient mountain operations.

Timekeeping Requirements

Red Lodge Mountain uses ADP as its official timekeeping system. Accurate timekeeping is required under federal and Montana wage and hourly laws. All hourly employees must:

- Clock in and out for every shift, meal break, and any approved time away from the work area.
- Be fully dressed and ready for work before clocking in.
- Clock out before removing any uniforms or work gear.
- Perform no work “off the clock.”
- Avoid clocking in earlier than five (5) minutes before a scheduled shift unless approved.
- Never clock in or out for another employee.

Employees are responsible for reviewing their timecards and promptly reporting errors to their supervisor.

Employees must report missed or incorrect punches as soon as possible. Supervisors will submit corrections according to payroll timelines. Employees may not adjust their own hours without supervisor approval.

Overtime

Red Lodge Mountain follows the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) and Montana wage and hour regulations. Hourly employees earn overtime at one and one-half (1.5) times their regular rate for hours worked over forty (40) hours in a Saturday–Friday workweek.

- All overtime must be approved in advance.
- Paid leave (vacation, sick, holidays) does not count as hours worked for overtime calculations. Unauthorized overtime will be paid as required by law but may result in disciplinary action.

Payroll Deductions

Red Lodge Mountain makes payroll deductions in accordance with federal and state law.

Required Deductions

- Federal income tax
- Montana state income tax
- Social Security (FICA)

- Other voluntary deductions initiated by the employee

Garnishments and Support Orders

Exempt and Non-Exempt Status

Red Lodge Mountain (RLM) follows all federal and state wage and hour laws when classifying employees.

Employees are designated as either:
Exempt (Salary)

- Exempt employees are paid a salary and are not eligible for overtime under the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) and Montana law.

- Classification is based on job duties and salary thresholds established by federal and state law.

Non-Exempt (Hourly)

- Non-exempt employees are eligible for overtime for all hours worked over 40 hours in a workweek (Saturday–Friday).

- Overtime is paid at 1.5 times the employee's regular rate of pay.

Employee classifications may only be changed by RLM management with written notification.

Final Pay Deductions

As allowed under Montana law (MCA 39-3-204) and with advance written authorization, RLM may deduct the reasonable value of unreturned company property from an employee's final paycheck. Examples include:

- Uniforms and badges
 - Keys and tools
 - Company-issued gear
 - Housing charges or deposits
 - Season passes
 - Technology or equipment
- Documentation will be provided upon request.

Lost Paychecks

Employees are strongly encouraged to enroll in direct deposit to avoid delays caused by weather or mail service.

If a paper paycheck is lost:

- Notify your supervisor and HR/timekeeper immediately.
- The original check will be voided and reissued.
- A processing fee may apply, if outlined elsewhere in policy.
- Replacement timing depends on payroll processing schedules.

Employee Responsibility

Employees are responsible for reviewing each pay statement for accuracy and reporting any discrepancies promptly. RLM complies fully with federal and Montana wage laws regarding recordkeeping, meal/rest periods (when applicable), final pay, and payment timelines.

Compensation and Pay Periods

RLM operates on a biweekly pay cycle.

- The workweek runs Saturday 12:00 AM through Friday 11:59 PM.
- Paydays occur every other Friday by 5:00 PM.
- Paychecks must be cashed within 180 days; unclaimed wages will be submitted to the State of Montana as required by law.

SCHEDULES, PAY PRACTICES, TIMEKEEPING, AND TIPS

Direct Deposit

RLM strongly encourages employees to enroll in direct deposit for secure and timely payment, especially during winter months when weather may delay mailed checks. Employees receiving paper checks are responsible for tracking, safeguarding, and depositing their checks.

Supervisors will provide department-specific instructions.

The following rules apply:

- ✓ Record your own time only – no “buddy punching.”
 - ✓ Report missed punches immediately to your supervisor.
 - ✓ Falsifying time records may result in termination.
 - ✓ Employees must be clocked in before performing any work.
 - ✓ Off-the-clock work is prohibited.
- Employees may not begin working more than five minutes before or after their scheduled shift unless authorized by a supervisor or manager.

Breaks, Free Time & Uniform Requirements

Employees may work in another department only when:

- Their primary manager approves,
- The receiving manager approves, and
- The combined hours do not exceed 40 in a workweek unless overtime is specifically authorized.

When working in multiple departments:

- The employee’s primary job remains their main responsibility.
- All overtime is paid based on the weighted average of all rates worked during the week.

ACCURATE EMPLOYEE INFORMATION

For accurate administration of your wages and benefits, and for compliance with Federal and State Regulations, it is necessary that current and accurate personnel records be maintained for each employee. This information is also necessary in the event you must be reached for emergency and work availability. If there are changes or if you observe or are aware of any errors in your personnel records, please notify Human Resources immediately. Falsification of any personal information is cause for termination.

CODE OF CONDUCT AND PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS

RLM is a service organization. The way we treat our guests and each other directly impacts our safety, reputation, and success. We expect all employees to act in a professional, respectful, and safety-conscious manner, whether on or off duty.

Guest Service

- Treat guests and teammates with courtesy, respect, and professionalism at all times.
- Remember that guests may recognize you as an RLM employee even when you are off duty in town.

Professional Communication

- Avoid profanity, offensive language, or inappropriate jokes, especially around guests and in guest-facing areas.
- Resolve conflicts respectfully and through appropriate channels.
- Follow reasonable directions from supervisors, managers, and directors.

Drug & Alcohol Expectations

RLM maintains a separate, stand-alone Drug and Alcohol Policy. Key expectations include:

- No use, possession, sale, or distribution of illegal drugs or alcohol on Company property, in Company vehicles, or while on duty. This will result in immediate termination.
 - Reporting to work under the influence of alcohol, illegal drugs, or misused prescription drugs is prohibited.
 - If you appear impaired or under the influence at work, you may be subject to reasonable suspicion testing consistent with applicable law and Company policy.
 - Employees suspected of working while impaired may be removed from duty, sent home safely, and may be required to complete reasonable suspicion/awareness training and meet with HR and their supervisor before returning to work.
- Violations of the Drug and Alcohol Policy or this section may result in corrective action, up to and including termination.

Social & Off-Duty Conduct

- Employees are part of a small mountain community and represent RLM on and off duty.
- Use good judgment in public and online, consistent with Company values and policies.
- Off duty conduct that seriously impacts safety, guest trust, or RLM operations may result in appropriate corrective action up to and including termination if necessary.

Attendance & Job Abandonment

- Regular and prompt attendance is essential for safety and operations at RLM.
- “On time” means properly dressed, in assigned area, and ready to work at the start of your scheduled shift.
 - If you will be late or absent, you must notify your supervisor as soon as possible using the method your department has established (call, text, or another approved channel).

CODE OF CONDUCT AND PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS

Unreported Absence (No-Call/No-Show)

A no-call/no-show occurs when an employee fails to report to work and doesn't notify the Company on that day.

Three (3) consecutive scheduled workdays of no-call/no-show will be treated as job abandonment and will be considered a voluntary resignation.

Irregular attendance, unexcused absences, excessive tardiness, and unreported absences are disruptive to the business and may lead to corrective action, up to and including termination.

Transition & Responsibilities During Notice Period

Employees who provide notice are expected to:

- Continue performing their duties professionally
- Complete assigned tasks or assist in transitioning work
- Return all company property (uniforms, keys, passes, equipment, tools, housing items, etc.)
- Follow all attendance, safety, and conduct policies through their final shift

RLM reserves the right to end employment earlier than the stated resignation date if business needs to require it. If this occurs, the employee will be paid through the effective date of separation.

Resignation & Voluntary Separation

Red Lodge Mountain understands that employees may occasionally choose to move on to new opportunities or personal commitments. When this happens, we aim to support a smooth, professional transition for both the employees and the organization.

Notice of Resignation

Employees are asked to provide at least two weeks' notice—in writing or via email—to their immediate supervisor. More notice is appreciated, when possible, especially during peak operational periods.

A proper resignation notice should include:

- Final intended workday
- Whether the employee is available to work the full notice period
- A forwarding address for final pay and future correspondence

Final Pay

Final wages will be issued in accordance with Montana law:

- If the employee provides more than four days' notice, all wages owed will be paid on the next regular payday.
- If notice is less than four days, final wages will be issued within 15 days of separation or the next payday—whichever comes first. Deductions for unreturned property, if authorized in writing, may be applied to the final paycheck.

Exit Process

Before separation is complete, employees may be asked to:

- Participate in an exit interview
- Confirm forwarding information for tax documents
- Review benefit continuation options (where applicable)

Exit interviews, while optional, help RLM improve the employee experience and are welcomed.

WORKING WITH CHILDREN AND MINORS

Red Lodge Mountain (RLM) welcomes many families and youth programs each season. We take seriously our responsibility to provide a safe, positive experience for our youngest guests. When working with children and minors, employees are expected to follow RLM protocols, maintain clear professional boundaries, and use sound judgment at all times.

Professional Boundaries with Minors

- Employees should not be alone with a minor in non-public or isolated locations. Whenever possible, interactions with minors should occur in plain view of others or in designated program spaces.
- Fraternization with minors and young adults under age 21 outside of work is not allowed. This includes socializing, dating, meeting up off-site, or communicating through personal social media or personal messaging apps for non-business reasons.
- Employees may not transport minors in personal vehicles unless specifically authorized by RLM and in accordance with Company procedures.

Photos, Video, and Social Media

- Photographing or recording minors, or posting images or video of minors on social media, is not permitted unless:
 - It is part of an RLM-approved program or marketing activity, and
 - Express permission has been obtained from the minor's parent/guardian through RLM's established consent process, and
 - Any images are used only as authorized by RLM (e.g., through Marketing).
- Employees may not post photos, videos, or identify information of minor guests on their personal social media accounts.

Reporting Concerns About Child Safety

Examples include, but are not limited to:

- Observed serious physical injuries or unexplained bruising
- Allegations or signs of sexual abuse or exploitation
- Apparent severe neglect or life-threatening conditions
- Any behavior by an employee, contractor, or guest that seems grooming, exploitative, or unsafe

If you see or suspect something:

- Ensure immediate safety first (contact Ski Patrol or 911 for emergencies).
- Report the concern right away to your leader and human resources.
- RLM will follow applicable procedures and, when appropriate, will make a report to the Montana Child & Family Services Division 24-hour hotline: 1-866-820-5437.

Some employees (for example, licensed health care providers, teachers, or certain professionals) may also be individual mandatory reporters under Montana law and are responsible for meeting their own legal obligations in addition to following RLM policy.

If you make or become aware of a formal report to state authorities, notify your leader and/or Human Resources so RLM can support any necessary safety, documentation, and follow-up.

Unpaid personal leave does not guarantee job protection.

Return-to-Work Requirements

Before returning from any medically related leave, RLM may require:

- A Fitness-for-Duty release
- Verification of ability to perform essential job functions
- Accommodation discussions (where applicable)

Employees returning from approved protected leave will be reinstated according to the law.

Jury Duty Leave

Employees must provide summons to their supervisor and HR within one day of receipt

- RLM may request postponement during critical business periods
 - Jury duty leave is unpaid, but employees may use accrued vacation if they wish
 - Employees released from jury duty must return to work for the remainder of their scheduled shift
- Benefits continue under normal rules during jury duty.

Bereavement Leave

When a death occurs in an employee's immediate family, all FTYR employees may take up to three (3) days off with pay to attend the funeral or make funeral arrangements. Immediate family members are defined as an employee's spouse, parents, stepparents, sisters, brothers, children, stepchildren, grandparents, father-in-law, mother-in-law, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, or grandchild.

RLM understands the deep impact that death can have on an individual or a family, therefore additional non-paid time off may be granted. Sick and/or vacation leave can also be used for this time. Individual employee circumstances may be discussed with the employee's manager and Human Resources to determine whether additional considerations are needed. It is the company's intention to support employees during their times of grief and bereavement.
